Tech Summit 2022

Provide a short summary of the work that was completed as part of this grant. *

4Phase Games attended the Canterbury Tech Summit 2022 in Christchurch for the first time. This summit has multiple speakers and presentations relating to different facets of the tech industry and brings together a host of sponsors and technologists in the one convention.

4Phase Games is a Māori company that creates interactive media and is based in Taranaki. They are currently based in Taranaki and the core creative team is made up of three people, supported by whānau and friends in the tech industry. Morgana Watson is the Creative Director and currently studying her Masters with the University of Canterbury which is how she was notified about the Summit. Through further investigation she discovered the Internet NZ grant that supports summit attendance and so made the necessary steps to apply; which was successful.

In order to make the most of their trip and networking opportunity, Morgana lined up meetings prior to departure. They also met with CODE (Dunedin) Chief Executive, Tim Ponting who was highly influential in helping to build the strategy for 'next steps' for the team and their game.

The Summit was a plethora of sponsors and speakers, that were professional and informative. There was a lot of free merchandise that everyone was encouraged to indulge in.

Because 4Phase Games is a Māori company it was a priority to see Elle Archer's presentation (Chair of Te Matarau - Māori Tech Association) which was inspiring and informative.

Describe the "who, what, where and when" of your initiative.

What are the outcomes of this project? *

As a team, 4Phase was not sure what to expect at the conference considering it was their first time, however they have made some very positive and beneficial network connections.

Upon many impromptu conversations, there was a great interest in Māori (Indigenous) game making and willingness to help in whatever capacity people could. This gives great encouragement to the team and opens up new avenues of opportunity. Successful grant applications also help solidify a relationship with Internet NZ.

I think Ciara's willingness to get us over the line to create the opportunity made the difference. That coupled with Louisa (General Manager, Canterbury Tech Summit) who squeezed us in after a sold-out summit meant the trip was a success.
