Provide a summary of the work undertaken. *

We created an accessible website that included New Zealand Sign Language videos to make sure the website was bi-lingual (English and NZSL). We used local Deaf community members in our videos to make sure it was authentic. We used NZSL interpreters to translate between the two languages and aid in communication.

We were able to purchase equipment to do the filming.

We also were able to use a Deaf filming company to edit all the videos and add captions for us.

Tell us about the activities carried out in this initiative to improve web accessibility.

What impact has this work had? *

There is very little, if any, website in New Zealand that is fully accessible using NZSL. From our introduction, to our 'about us' page right down to our contact form, everything is in NZSL.

Our website can be used as a showcase for what access looks like for the Deaf community, and we hope it encourages other websites to try and make their website more Deaf friendly too.

We have had positive feedback from the community about the website.

It also ensures that we as a charity are authentic in what we do- By Deaf for Deaf.
